- A. That each Church should be governed on a national basis rather than universally by the Pope.
- A. The principle that kept much of Medieval Europe at peace by recognizing the unity of faith among people who did not share the same nationalities or customs.
- C. The false teaching that one's authority to rule depends upon his own individual virtue; that the Bible alone contains all divine revelation, preaching is more important than Mass or Sacraments, and the Pope has no primacy of jurisdiction.
- F. A false belief system that would lead one to think moral and religious truths are inaccessible to human reason and can only be known if they are revealed to us by God.
- J. A movement that advocated for a council to appoint the Pope, thereby placing a council's authority over that of the Pope.
- N. The heresy that denies the authority of Sacred Tradition, the existence of Purgatory, and the necessity of good works in salvation.
- O. A rebellion of French peasants who opposed the taxes forced upon them during the Hundred Years War.
- O. A document that asserted the supremacy of secular rulers over the Church and that the Church's authority came from the people.
- R. A mystical experience of many saints by which Jesus takes a soul as his bride and leads it to an increase of charity and familiarity with Christ.
- S. A reference to the seventy years that the papacy spent in Avignon under the watchful eye of French kings.
- T. A general term for the bubonic, pneumonic, and septicemic plague.
